

OFFICIAL ADOPTION AGREEMENT 2008-2009

School uniforms in Sudan

Sudanese law states that all students in Sudanese schools must wear school uniforms. There are three Lutheran schools in the Upper Nile region of Sudan, and these schools educate over 1,300 students. Providing uniforms for these students insures that no child will be turned away from a Christian education because his or her family cannot afford a uniform.

For $3.00 a piece, locally made and purchased uniforms give more children the chance to hear the saving message of Jesus Christ while gaining a useful education. The purchase of these uniforms also supports the area economy and provides the population a sense of ownership in the project.
